MFR003: Freiband – True Type

Freiband is one of the many projects by Frans de Waard, one of the Dutch masters of experimental electronic music.

For True Type he has not made new music but he selected mp3 releases that needed a proper release because of quality. The 4 selected releases we find here are Reflection previously released on the now defunct mp3 label techNOH, the release Parallel for the 12K side label Term., remixes for the now defunct .Tiln/Antiopic mp3 label and EARLabs released on the now defunct mp3 label EARLabs (still working as review site) which contains remixes of the music by Jos Smolders.

The music is now finally available in full quality as it was supposed to be.

True Type is a lovely collection of music which shows the diversity in Freiband's take on pop music.

ABOUT Freiband

Freiband is the project by Frans de Waard, also founding member of Kapotte Muziek, Beequeen, Goem and many more, with a focus on glitches. He first started this project, inspired by Asmus Tietchens work Daseinsverfehlung, after recording a beequeen album of which he manipulated the hard disk recordings and played these back. The result was warm glitchy popmusic, which took the original recordings completely out of context. Because all the pops and blips in the music Frans de Waard calls this music popmusic.

In 2001 the first Freiband cd Microbes was released by Ritornell, following many others on varying labels.
